

A SCHOOL BOARD RACE THAT REMINDS US OF 2006, AND NOT IN A GOOD WAY

Wednesday, 21 October 2009

A candidate in the contest to replace Michael Ellis faces the same accusation Ellis did three years ago: carpetbagger. Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the voting booth, the contest to replace former Long Beach Unified Board of Education member Michael Shane Ellis looms Dec. 29. And—call this Ellis II: Electric Boogaloo , or The Ellis Strikes Back , or some other catchy sequel name—already the allegations of carpetbagging are flying. Here, briefly, is the situation, though

A candidate in the contest to replace Michael Ellis faces the same accusation Ellis did three years ago: carpetbagger. Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the voting booth, the contest to replace former Long Beach Unified Board of Education member Michael Shane Ellis looms Dec. 29. And—call this Ellis II: Electric Boogaloo , or The Ellis Strikes Back , or some other catchy sequel name—already the allegations of carpetbagging are flying. Here, briefly, is the situation, though

Full Story: Content Keyword RSS